

Igor Gorin In First Community Concert Thursday

The first artist to appear in the Canyon Community Concert series believes that Americans are becoming more familiar with classical music and have come to prefer it over other types.

Igor Gorin, concert, opera, TV and radio baritone star, will be presented Thursday night at 8 p. m. in the college cafeteria.

Only those who present membership cards in the concert association may attend. Non-members may attend the concert by borrowing a membership card.

Those members who will be unable to attend and desire to loan their cards to others may contact Mrs. H. R. Fulton, who will act as a go-between for those who have cards they wish to loan and those who need to borrow a membership card for guests.

A membership drive for next season will be conducted during the spring.

Gorin, who was born in Vienna, said that when he first went into radio, his sponsors warned him against too much "highbrow music." But today letters from audiences are more likely to ask him to sing "Evening Star" from "Tannhauser" or something from Verdi's "La Traviata."

As a lad in Vienna, Gorin's first musical training was as a choir boy, and later at the University of Vienna became a medical student.

After his voice had changed, however, it became evident he had a baritone voice of exceptional beauty and power so he returned to music and studied at the Vienna

Conservatory for five years.

After three years in leading baritone roles in European opera companies, Gorin found himself with a modest nest egg and decided to try his luck in America.

Not long after he arrived, Gorin landed a feature spot on the Roxy Music Hall variety program, where his singing attracted the attention of NBC. With NBC he was given a 10-week sustaining program.

Immediately, Hollywood beckoned and Gorin found himself the singing star of the radio program "Hollywood Hotel."

At the same time he was under contract to MGM and RCA-Victor records signed him to a recording contract. Later, he was introduced to the concert world by Columbia Artists Management.

Gorin's concert repertoire ranges from Handel, Haydn and Mozart through the masterworks of the classical and romantic eras to such contemporaries as Albert Hay Malotte, Rachmaninoff, Celius Dougherty, Roland Parry and Villa-Lobos.

He was one of the first concert singers to program American Western ballads, because he believes they have serious claim to both melodic and lyric beauty.

"I've talked with famous concert singers of early days," says Gorin, "people like Galli-Curci and John McCormick, who say that 10 or 20 years ago songs like 'When You and I Were Young Maggie' or 'Silver Threads Among the Gold' were beloved audience favorites.

"Today all that is changed. The letters I receive from concert-goers who have been to hear me indicate a sensitive and almost sophisticated preference for what used to be called 'long-hair music.' It has at last come into its own in the popular mind as simply 'music.'"

"The bulk of the mail I get from people in my audience is more apt to single out a Rossini aria or a subtle Moussorgsky art song for praise or inquiry than some simple ballad I may have done as an encore."

Devils Burn Buffs 27-7

Now Rate Near Bottom of Pile

Three costly fumbles and the loss of leading scorer and ground-gainer Joe Walden neutralized West Texas State's vaunted ground offense Saturday and the Buffalos dropped a 27-7 decision to a sharp Arizona State team at Tempe. It was West Texas' third defeat against four wins and a tie and the win left Arizona State on top of Border Conference standings. The Sun Devils now lead with two wins and no setbacks and can take the title with victories over Texas Western, New Mexico A & M, and Arizona.

It was the first time this season the Buffalos were outplayed. Although they came out on the long end of the statistics again, the Buffs were unable to stop a brilliant Arizona State passing attack in the first half and a crunching ground game in the last two periods.

The Buffs took the opening kickoff and started moving in typical Herd style, five and six yards a carry. However, fumbles on the 18, 25 and 45-yard lines in Arizona State territory wiped out all three (Con't. on Back Page Section 1)

Warwick Remains In Serious State

Clyde W. Warwick remained in serious condition in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo today, while doctors continued a series of tests and x-rays to determine the cause of his disability.

He was taken to Neblett Hospital early last Wednesday night and was transferred to the Amarillo hospital Friday afternoon. Mrs. Warwick is staying in the hospital with her husband.

Club Has Dinner For Buffaloes

The Canyon Quarterback Club will honor the West Texas State College football players at a steak dinner in the college cafeteria at 6:45 p. m. Thursday.

The Buffaloes were invited to the dinner by a telegram sent while they were in Tempe preparing for the game with Arizona State College last Saturday.

All members of the club are urged to attend the dinner. John Hunter, head quarterback, said the early hour was set so that anyone with a prior engagement that night would have time to make it.

One-Act Plays Slated Tuesday

A trio of one-act plays will be presented Tuesday at 8:15 p. m. in the Branding Iron Theatre at West Texas State College by the Buffalo Masquers, campus dramatics club.

The "festival of one-acts" is being given to stimulate interest on the campus in dramatics, as well as providing entertainment for theater-goers. Admission at the door will be 35 cents.

First play will be a comedy-drama featuring a cast of seven freshman girls. They are Kay Brown, Stinnett; Gayle Dysart, Amarillo; Ann Fullingim, Canadian; Lois Hood, Tulsa; Mary Joyce Ing, Sunray; Betty Lou Waters, Hale Center; and Betty Barnard, Amarillo.

A second comedy will star six B.I.T. veterans, Patricia Starr Hall, Amarillo; Cherry Moore Kauffman, Borger; Verdi Knox, Happy; Betty Williams, White Deer; Letha Fedric, Stratford; and Bee Chinn, Borger.

Final presentation is a drama with Eddie Thomas, Amarillo; Mildred Smith, Perryton; and Miss Fedric.

Mrs. Margaret E. Moore, sponsor of Buffalo Masquers, will supervise production.

City Rounds Up Old Summonses

If you have an unpaid traffic ticket, it would be a good idea to drop by the city hall and pay the fine.

The city police have begun a crackdown on delinquent traffic tickets, Chief George Roden has announced.

At the present time, the file of previously issued traffic tickets is being examined and warrants will be issued for the arrest of those who have failed to appear.

If a warrant is issued and the person arrested is found guilty, an extra fine is assessed for the issuance of the warrant.

Roden said flagrant disregard of the city parking regulations cannot be tolerated. He asked that drivers realize that traffic laws are designed to control and protect the driving public, and are not set up solely to discriminate against anyone.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Larson and daughter visited Mr. and Mrs. Buddy J. Sutton and children in Dallas last weekend.

Bids Asked for Expressway Sewer

The first bids for construction for the Canyon-Amarillo expressway are being solicited by the highway department.

The bids being asked for are to construct 1295 miles of storm sewer from 16th and Fillmore and from 34th and Tyler to a point .8 of a mile southeast of Amarillo.

Highway department officials have said the storm sewer must be constructed before work is begun on the rest of the expressway in order to protect the work in case of bad weather.

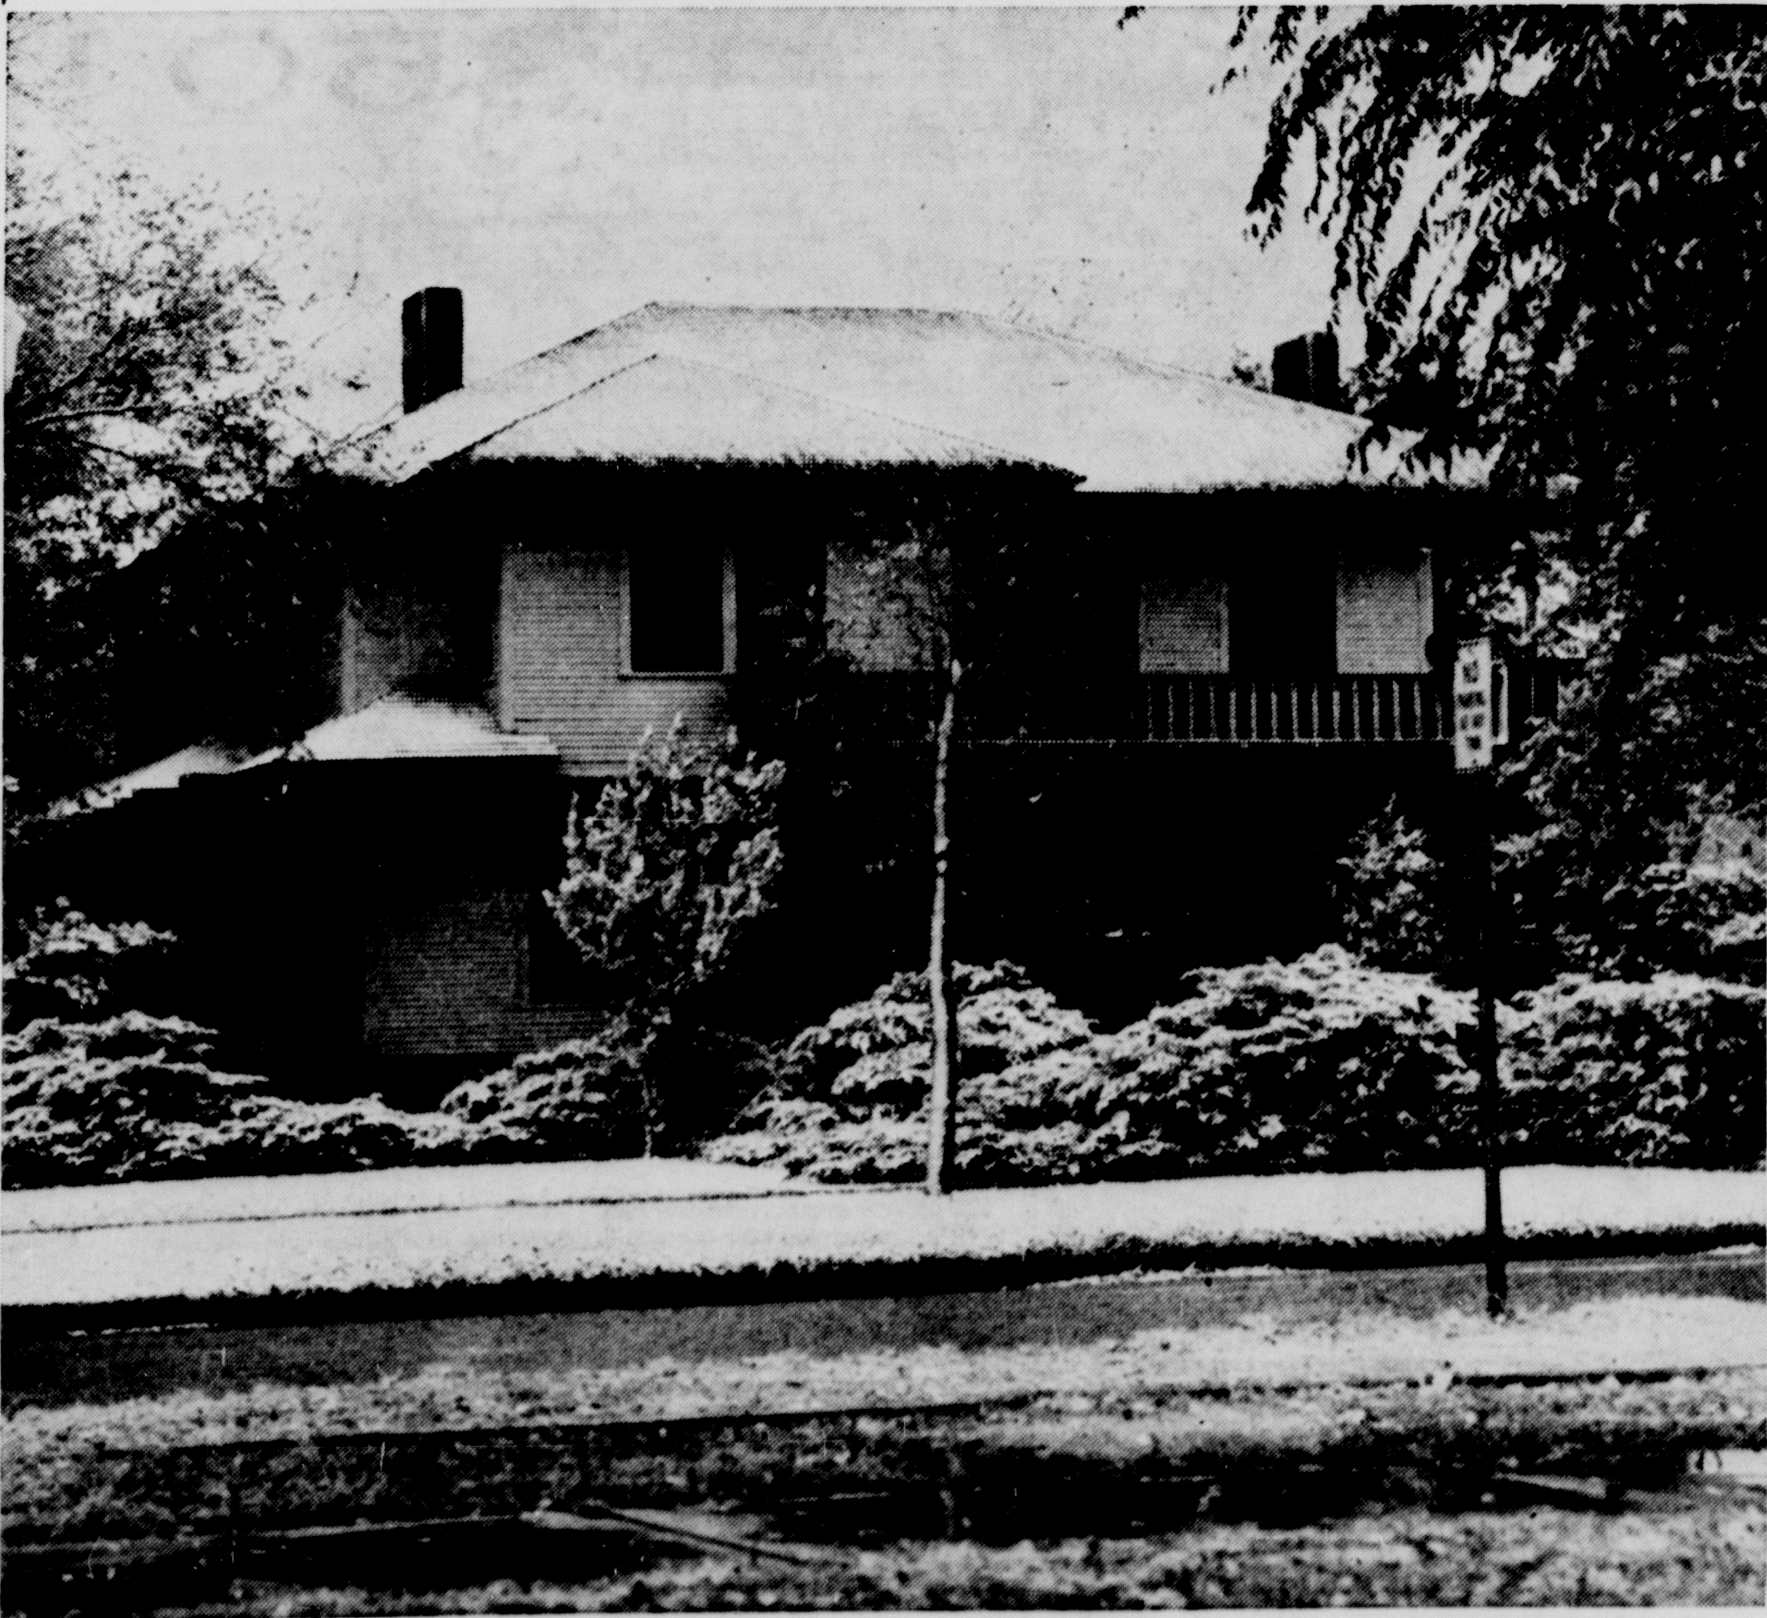

Other bids being solicited include paving 15.99 miles of farm-to-market road between FM1151, some five miles south of Amarillo, to the end of FM1151, five miles south of Washburn.

The bids on the storm sewer will be opened Nov. 22 in Austin, and those on the farm-to-market road will be opened Nov. 23.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. LaFon have returned home from Waco where they visited the Stuart Condrons. They also visited friends and relatives in Cleburne.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Berry spent Sunday in McLean.

First Snow Decorates Fronabarger Home With Frosting

Sopping wet snow fell on Canyon Monday, sometimes gently and sometimes blown wildly by the wind. Within a few hours, the glistening blanket covered the ground, trees, shrubs and rooftops, as it does the Fronabarger home on Fourth Avenue. The fall started around 11 a. m., and by the time it had quit about 5 p. m., youngsters and young oldsters could wade delightedly in two inches of snow. The weather bureau said the moisture content was .25 of an inch. By midafternoon Tuesday, the brilliant sun had melted all but the most protected banks of the first snow of the winter.

Hereford Hooks Eagles 20-13; Will Try On Dalhart Here Friday

"I can sum up that Hereford game in one phrase. They gave us a good country thrashing," Coach Guy Harrison said yesterday.

The coach has his charges working on the Dalhart game, coming up Friday night in Buffalo Stadium. The Wolves, at the bottom of the conference pile, has lost four district games this season.

Dalhart uses essentially a T formation with flankers to both sides, although they use some double-wing pass plays.

The Wolf offensive backfield averages 165 pounds as does the line.

After last week's 1-AA games, Phillips still reigns in first place in spite of the 20-20 tie with Dumas.

Rankings of the teams are:
Team	W	L	T	Pct
1. Phillips	3	0	1	.750
2. Hereford	3	2	0	.600
3. Canyon	1	1	2	.500
3. Dumas	2	2	1	.500
3. Perryton	1	1	2	.500
5. Shamrock	1	3	0	.250
5. Dalhart	0	4	0	.000

The disheartening loss to Hereford dropped the Eagles from undisputed second place in the District 1-AA race to a three-way tie for third place with Dumas and Perryton. Hereford jumped from a fourth-place tie to second in the race.

In the Eagle-Whiteface game, Hereford had the ball for a total of 78 offensive plays and kicked once. The team averaged 4.22 yards per try and 4.45 yards per try on the ground.

The Eagles had the ball for 48 offensive plays and kicked seven times. The team averaged 3.61 per play, 2.31 on the ground and 5.91 through the air.

Statistically, the Whitefaces controlled the game completely. They made 19 first downs to seven for Canyon, racked up 325 yards on the ground and none in the air to 67 yards on the ground and 71 in the air for Canyon.

The Eagles were forced to punt seven times for 197 yards (averaging 28.14 per kick) while Hereford punted only once for 30 yards.

The Whitefaces attempted one more punt, but lost yardage on a bad pass from center.

Charles Neblett attempted 12 passes for Canyon, completing three for 71 yards—one of which was good for 50 yards and the first touchdown of the game.

Hereford's John David Bryant attempted four passes, completed none and had one intercepted by Arthur Pruett.

Hereford lost five fumbles and Canyon one. The Eagles were penalized four times for 25 yards and the Whitefaces were penalized nine times for 75 yards.

Hereford took the opening kickoff and kept the ball for the first four minutes and 39 seconds, pushing from their own 18-yard line to the Canyon 15. A penalty and an incomplete pass gave the Eagles the ball on their own 20.

Halfback Harlie Adams pushed three yards, then a penalty put the ball back on the 18. Don Britain made it to the 19, then Adams to the 20. Neblett kicked to the Canyon 42, and there was no runback.

Bryant attempted his second pass, then whizzer halfback Wayne Smith carried three straight times to the 30 and a first down. Hereford fumbled the ball back on the 26, and Canyon took over again.

Garland Ruthart made three yards, Britain two and Adams four, then Neblett kicked to the Hereford 30, and the Whiteface team took over.

G. C. Merritt ran to the 33, Bryant to the 41 for a first down, Smith to the 45 and Weemes to the 50. Bryant fumbled on the 50, and Canyon took over for their first score.

Neblett heaved to Britain, who ran the remaining yards for the first score of the game with only 42 seconds remaining in the first quarter. The pass play covered 50 yards. Neblett's conversion attempt was no good.

On the kickoff, Bill Calloway ran back to the Canyon 45, Smith ran to the 41 and then was set back on the 48—the first yards lost rushing by Hereford—to end the quarter.

Bryant attempted a pass, then a high center pass to Bobby Veigel who was planning to punt, let the ball roll back to the Hereford 14.

Canyon took over on the 14 on downs, only to lose the ball on the first play by a fumble.

Hereford began a series of plays that brought in two first downs before Bryant fumbled on the Hereford 32 and lost the ball.

Adams ran the first play for one yard. Neblett threw an incomplete pass then tossed to Leonard Miller for a standing touchdown, but the play was recalled for a penalty that put the ball on the 46. Neblett attempted another pass and kicked on the fourth down to the nine-yard line.

Smith ran to the 12, to the 15 and then to the 20 for a first down. A penalty put the ball on the 15, so Smith ran to the 20. Merritt went to the 26 and then to the 29.

Bryant raced 62 yards to the Canyon nine before being overhauled. Smith ran to the five, to the three and Bryant made one more to the two.

Smith ran over for the first Hereford score, tying the game at 6-6 with 1:12 left in the second quarter. Walter Kaul's conversion attempt was no good.

On the kickoff, Britain ran back to the Canyon 38, then Adams punched to the Hereford 44. Neblett attempted three straight passes (Con't. on Back Page Section 1)

A small town man was unhappy because he couldn't get his wife to return home from an extended visit in the mountains last summer. After several unsuccessful requests, he sent her a copy of their home town newspaper.

But first he clipped one item from it. The day after she received the paper, his wife took the next train home.

The first recorded traffic death in this country was a pedestrian struck after he had alighted from a street car.

Ever since then, Americans have been going out of their way to get themselves killed in and by automobiles.

Last year, President Eisenhower designated one day as the day for everyone to drive safely, and called it S-D Day. It wasn't successful at all.

Again this year, he's trying again. Planning for S-D Day began way last summer, and the publicity campaign has already started.

The special emphasis program aimed at marking a 24-hour period without traffic accidents will begin on Nov. 20, and culminate in S-D Day on Dec. 1.

"If every individual motorist and pedestrian in Texas will drive and walk with strict obedience to the traffic laws on Dec. 1, we will be assured of a death-free, accident-free period in so far as traffic is concerned," says Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the department of public safety.

The same holds true for every day in the year. If every motorist and pedestrian will drive and walk with strict obedience to the traffic laws every day, we will be assured of at least a minimum number of accidents rather than the enormous number we have now.

We've noticed in some of the area papers last week that Halloween damage was not so great as usual.

The Hereford Brand reported an extremely light amount of destruction, for instance.

Up in Perryton, the Ochiltree County Herald said damage was the smallest in years. Credit for the reduction in activity was given to a Teen Town show, a campaign to raise funds for a youngster in Kansas who is a spastic victim, and intensive work of city and county officers.

Here in Canyon, the sheriff said the toll of property damage was low.

But, back in Perryton, damage was estimated at $2,000. The chief of police there said all the city's stop signs and many street signs were torn down, and small buildings and machinery were moved—"light damage."

In Amarillo property damage was quite heavy, according to police and fire reports.

We're not sure what it all proves, except it seems to us a senseless waste to allow youngsters one night a year to tear up what they want to.

We read a novel once that revolved around a single night of terror when wholesale killings were allowed by law. Right now we can't remember what the point of the novel was, but we remember the right to murder on one night a year was allowed because people who have a chance to work off their need for violence annually would not want to conduct a war.

We don't see how such a premise can hold true. Nor can we see how a night of destruction can be of any use in building future citizens.

If young people are allowed to destroy property at will on Halloween, how can you teach them any respect for the rights of others?

The last edition of Time magazine went to great lengths to prove that the nation's farm economy is in good shape, although not at its highest peak, and that Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson is a fine, old boy.

In fact, the magazine goes so far as to say that when the politicians quit blowing off, the U. S. may be grateful that a "hard-nosed, unpolitic man of principle was in charge of its farm economy during the painful transition from wartime bonanza to peacetime reality."

The editors put a pretty red and gray graph on the first news page of the magazine showing how well off the farmers are, citing that total farm income in 1954 was $20 billion—which averages out to a princely sum of $913 per farm resident.

To prove that the sum is princely, the magazine shows that per-farm-resident income in 1940 was $262 and the total income was $8 billion.

Now, $20 billion is 2% times bigger than $8 billion. And both sums are bigger than we can comprehend.

But $913 and $262 are amounts we know pretty well, because we owe at least that much in one place or another. And, we know we couldn't begin to live for a year on $913.

Those are net income figures, the magazine says.

Gross farm income in the U. S. has dropped 11 per cent since 1951. But, net income has dropped 27 per cent since 1951, due simply to the fact that the things farmers buy cost more than the things they produce.

The magazine says that farmers are better off now than they were in the late 1930's. We should all hope they are, because the rest of us are.

To prove that the farmers are better off now, the magazine says the farmer got 40c of each consumer dollar in 1940, and now they get more, 41c.

The 41c of the consumer dollar adds up to a parity ratio of 85—balancing what the farmer buys with what he sells.

But, milo at $1.69 a hundred is nowhere near 85 per cent of parity. If you don't believe us, ask an irrigation farmer what it costs him to grow, harvest and market a hundred pounds of milo.

If the nation's average parity ratio is 85, some farmers somewhere else are getting more than their share.

It's all in the way you look at it. The Senate ordered two telephone booths taken out of the press gallery, one of which was controlled by the Wall Street Journal and the other by Tass, the Soviet News agency.

Said the Wall Street Journal: "Typical Socialistic abuse of power." Said Tass: "Typical capitalistic abuse of democratic right."

At 19... An Expert

This kid knows his stuff when it comes to driving. Sure, he's young... but he's smart. And he knows what's smart behind the wheel. He's got perfect timing... constant control... and good road judgment. He's got them all because he practices them... all the time. Because of his timing, he never needs to dart from lane to lane. Rather he glides his car smoothly, anticipating his next move long in advance. As for control... it lets him blend with the flow of traffic without those jerky starts and stops. And he'll be the first to tell you that anyone with road judgment will keep at reasonable speeds... not too fast, not too slow. He's young... but he's an expert. And he's proud of it! There's this about driving... You can always spot an expert!

We overheard a conversation the other day between two women who are building beautiful new homes. They really have problems!

Each has a perfectly good house to live in while the new one is being built, so it isn't that. And each has plenty of money — it isn't that, either.

Much of their talk was of trials with carpenters, electricians and decorators. They abuse your property. They oversell you. They expect you to visualize a room from a few tiny samples. They're slow. They're expensive.

For once we basked in the sunshine of poverty. When we built our home, we were both so busy making money to pay for it that we decided such things as door hinges and cabinet finish as quickly as possible, then left them to the contractor. Oddly enough, he did pretty well without our close supervision.

We had no trouble at all with a decorator. We just placed our few belongings in the larger rooms so they'd fill up as much space as possible, then gradually furnished the house as we could afford it. After 15 years, we're still "decorating" — piece at a time — but at least it has been a source of pleasure, not distress.

Many of the things we do that should make us happy seem instead only to intensify our anxiety and tension. What's the matter? Are we afraid to turn loose and enjoy living?

English Woman Living Here Applauds Margaret's Decision

By DOVIE KEENE

An Englishwoman, who has been in the United States only a month, feels that Princess Margaret made a wise decision when she decided not to marry Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

"I do not feel they would have been happy together. People in England look up to the Royal family and I think Margaret set a fine example," said Mrs. Dick McDonald, now of Canyon.

On Oct. 17, Dick McDonald returned home after being stationed for several months with the Air Force in England. With him he brought a wife—an English girl formerly Joan Standley of Kirtan, England.

Stepping off the plane in New York, Joan and Dick met Dick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McDonald and returned to Canyon where they are living in the McDonald home at 2106 Fourth Ave. In the three weeks that Joan has been here, people have rapidly come to recognize her as a short, slim woman with black hair expressible dark eyes and a warm personality. Joan's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Standley and she has four brothers and two sisters.

Last Tuesday morning, Joan was at home busily attending to housework and their daughter, Melvina Marie. Melvina Marie, blonde and fair, was born July 4. Joan and Dick met Feb. 17, 1954, and were married that November.

How does Joan like being a Texas gal? "I like Texas very much. The people in Canyon are like one big family. Everyone is so friendly; many have called eager to welcome and talk with me."

How does she like Texas weather? "I like Texas weather. It is cold in England, too, and the wind blows a great deal in my home town, which is close to the ocean."

Joan was anxious to set foot on Texas soil. On the trip to Canyon, they stopped in Shamrock to get some coffee. Mrs. Bryan McDonald asked Dick to go in and get some coffee and bring it to the car, but Joan was emphatic on getting out.

"Oh, no, I want to get out and set foot on this Texas soil," she did.

Joan has many varying interests. She has already transferred her membership from the Kirtan Methodist Church and joined the Methodist Church choir here. A soprano, Joan had some training under a professional singer and does solo work.

But besides singing, she has a typical English love for sports. In England she participated in soccer, hockey, running and disc throwing on competitive teams.

She was awarded the Victoria dorum, an award for the best all around sportswoman. This award goes to the person winning a first, second or a third place in ten events.

Another prize Joan received was one for her detailed study of the 48 states of America. Thus, she had a fairly concrete idea of the United States before her arrival here.

Schooling for Joan was from 5 to 16 in a secondary school. English school girls wear uniforms and no makeup.

Students do not just slide by in English schools, but are required to concentrate much time and effort in studying.

Following school, Mrs. McDonald was employed at a large fashion store. From there she worked for a dry cleaning firm and worked up to the position of supervisor. Her salary was seven pounds a week, or about $21, which is above par, the average girl's wages being about four pounds a week.

Joan finds the housewife's work in America much easier than in England because of fewer household helps such as washing machines and refrigerators. In England, a man seldom helps with the housework and works hard at his job.

The English housewife is faced with the problem of the variety range of foods from which she has to select. A large variety of meats is available, but fruits and vegetables are limited.

Squashes and sweet potatoes are not eaten in England. Joan had not seen a squash until she visited an American grocery store where she was amazed at the great variety of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Eggs in England are about $1 a dozen.

Joan recalls a typical Sunday in Great Britain as one of worship and relaxation. In the morning, her family prepares the noon meal and for chapel. Chapel services, such as the Baptist and Methodist, are in the afternoon. Services of the Church of England are in the morning.

After services, the family might take a walk around the countryside. Tea is at 4 p. m. There is no evening meal preparation for the average family even on week days.

One of the things Joan misses most is her bicycle.

In England, bicycles are the main mode of transportation. Joan's brother rides 17 miles a day to work and she has cycled to London.

During the evening rush from work it is almost impossible for a car to get through the streets because of the congestion of bicycles.

One of the striking things to Joan are the white houses in America. White houses are rare in England. The common color and material being red brick or sometimes creamy stucco.

When taking Melvina outside, Joan does not wrap her in a lot of sweaters or blankets, a practice from home. British babies are acquainted with the climate at a very young age.

Few babies have colds and the mark of health, which Melvina has, is a rosy, glowing complexion.

When a baby is pale a quick trip to the doctor or nurse is a certainty.

Nurses act not only as aids, but do a great deal of medical care reserved for doctors in America. One of the cases in which a nurse specializes is maternity. If an English mother desires, she may call a district nurse to come to her home and deliver the baby.

Joan is a Billy Graham fan. She feels he is a wonderful Christian and that his visit to England produced marked effects in the lives of the people.

She says her father was profoundly impressed by Graham's message. People in England call Graham the second John the Baptist, and often come at 4 a. m. to hear him preach at 7 p. m.

On Halloween night, Joan experienced a celebration not widely known in England. Where there are American families, there is a bit of Trick or Treating.

Thanksgiving will also be a new holiday for Mrs. McDonald. British people do have a harvest Thanksgiving each year though after the harvest of crops.

A service is held in the church or chapel which is beautifully decorated with the produce of the fields and gardens. On Monday following the services, the produce used in decorating is auctioned and the money added to church funds.

Joan, 22, is aware of the interest, privileges and problems of young people. One of the natural interests is love and marriage.

Young people do not marry as early in England as in America. This is largely due to the law which forbids marriage without the parents' consent until 21 years of age.

Dating is frowned upon until the person has finished his formal education. An English saying is "Marry in haste; repent in leisure."

A problem of youth is juvenile delinquency. There exists in England what is known as the Teddy Boys who dress in the style of Edward I. Their offenses are serious and they create a situation of fear and nuisance, especially in

Parasites Rob Stock Profits

COLLEGE STATION—External parasites of livestock and poultry are not only a constant menace but also are profit robbers.

They lower production of meat, milk and eggs by sucking blood from the animals, transmit diseases and cause loss of energy by annoyance, says Extension Entomologist F. M. Fuller.

The major external parasites can be controlled by using organic insecticides and Fuller believes there is little excuse for allowing them to exist.

He points out that losses caused by these pests can be the difference between financial success or failure for many farm enterprises. With the cost-price squeeze getting tighter, it is just good business management, he adds, to get the insects before they get your profits.

As an aid to stockmen, dairymen and poultry producers, the extension entomologists have prepared a leaflet, "Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry" which gives in brief form methods and formulas for doing the control job.

The leaflet is available at the offices of local county agents or from the Agricultural Information Office at College Station. Ask for L-256.

Working girls are becoming more fashion-conscious.

Manchester.

Measures are being taken to sustain the Teddy Boys and they are fading out of their prominent reign of terror.

England has lowered the age limits for drinking to combat the alcohol problem. Anyone 17½ years old may be served in any public house.

Joan and Dick plan to stay in Texas. Dick will enter West Texas State next semester. Joan is happy in America and is as eager to know the people of Canyon as they are to know her.

New Sweep-ahead styling
New Sizzle to match

WHAT YOU SEE pictured here is Buick for 1956—and from the gleam of that "V" grille to the sassy slant of the tail fins, you can see it has no equal for gorgeous good looks.

But what you see from the curb is fully matched by what you feel at the wheel—and that's gospel. For this Buick gets its zoom from a mighty 322-cubic-inch V8 engine lofted to a new record high in power and compression—and from a spectacular new advance in Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

What's new in the '56 Dynaflo is this: in the first inch of pedal travel—and not with wide-open throttle—your Buick moves from standstill to cruise with silk-smooth, instant and certain getaway.

But comes a sudden need for safety-surge action to get out of a tight spot—and you floor the pedal to switch the pitch of this airplane-inspired transmission. Instantly and smoothly, you're at full-power acceleration—a thrill beyond words.

There's a lot more we could tell you about these great new Buicks—about brilliant new interiors, a superb new ride with a safer "sense of direction," and new safety features everywhere you look.

But the best way to get the whole story of the best Buick yet is right at the wheel of one of these '56 beauties. So drop in this week and do just that.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Variety Ring Plans To Help Girlstown

The Variety Ring has taken on a project that rivals any in worthiness.

The Canyon sewing club has decided to help Girlstown, near Whiteface, and to promote it here in Canyon.

As a starter the club sent 28½ yards of blouse material to Girlstown last month. Next month, they plan to send a bolt of tablecloth material to the school.

Also, they've decided to help in building a 74-girl dormitory.

The club made a trip to Girlstown about two weeks ago, and were highly impressed with the work done there. Girlstown has a waiting list of several hundred girls, and the dormitory is sorely needed, they were told.

The material sent there will be made into blouses by the girls themselves, who sew much of their own clothing. The tablecloth material will also be finished by the girls.

Members of the Variety Ring will accept donations to be sent to Girlstown.

Mrs. M. C. DeGraffenreid of Walla Walla, Wash., is visiting friends in Canyon for two weeks.

Army Explains

More Reserve Duty Required by Act

The Reserve Forces Act of 1955 which became effective Aug. 9, 1955, contains provisions to increase participation in reserve training.

The act imposes on all young men under 26 who enter the armed forces after its enactment the obligation to take part in reserve training, and provides effective measures for insuring compliance with that obligation.

The act established a requirement to participate in not less than 48 scheduled drills or training periods and not more than 17 days' active duty for training each year.

Managing Practices Control Grazing

COLLEGE STATION—The amount of winter grazing you get from small grains and annual clovers depends in a large measure upon the management practices used.

Give the young plants time to develop a hardy root system before turning in the livestock, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist. The plants should be at least six inches tall before they are grazed.

Their root systems will be developed to the point that grazing livestock will not materially reduce the stand by pulling up the plants. Grazing young plants too early can result in depleted stands and a corresponding loss in production.

Trew says that rotation grazing gives the most efficient use of the forage produced by fast growing small grains and legumes. He recommends portable fencing for cutting the pasture into smaller plots because it is easy to move and inexpensive.

If weather conditions continue favorable and the grazing gets ahead of the livestock, mow the excess to prevent early booting. If allowed to make too much growth, small grains are more susceptible to winter killing, says Trew.

"Winter grazing usually is very succulent and a little dry hay should be provided to help balance the diets of livestock."

First year plantings of brome, orchard, fescue or perennial ryegrass should not be grazed unless irrigated or growing on very fertile soil. This delayed grazing gives the plants a chance to become well established, says Trew. Pastures are a cash crop and they should be managed as such, he adds.

Leo Durocher signs year contract as video executive.

or, in lieu thereof, to perform annually not more than 30 days of active duty for training.

The Secretary of Defense is authorized to make exceptions to this general rule. The act provides specifically that reservists who become divinity students may at their request be relieved of the training obligation.

The act does not affect the obligation of members of the National Guard to attend all drills and periods of active duty for training scheduled for their units. They cannot elect to serve 30 days on active duty for training as a substitute for scheduled unit training.

Members of the ready reserve, except members of the National Guard who are subject to separate state codes, who fail or refuse to perform the prescribed annual training may be ordered without their consent and required to perform active duty for training for 45 days.

Failure to comply with such active duty orders could result in appropriate disciplinary action under the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

This compliance measure is necessary since experience has demonstrated that volunteer and assigned obligors must obtain the experience and training necessary to meet minimum defense requirements.

The compliance measure applies to individuals who voluntarily enter directly into army reserve. It makes no difference whether initial entry into the armed forces is into the active forces or into the army reserve.

Qualified ROTC graduates are guaranteed commissions under the act. If the services of an ROTC graduate are not required on active duty at the time he receives his commission, he will be ordered to active duty training for six months, to train in the grade in which he was commissioned.

At the conclusion of this training he will be assigned to a reserve unit until the eighth anniversary of his commissioning. As long as he performs satisfactorily in reserve training, he will be deferred from the draft. If he fails to perform satisfactorily, his commission may be revoked.

If called for two years' active duty after receiving his commission, he will be required to complete this, actively participate in a reserve unit for three years, and may then transfer to the standby reserve for his remaining year.

A member of the army reserve who is precluded by distance, geography, or occupation from a 48-hour drill program may apply

GUARANTEED... the new multi-viscosity motor oils will do more to improve the winter starting characteristics and extend the life of your car than any other petroleum lubricating oil.

It's a scientific fact... most engine wear occurs:

1. During the warm-up period before ordinary oil thins down enough to circulate freely.
2. At high operating temperatures when ordinary oil thins down too much to give proper protection.

It's a scientific fact... Shamrock multi-viscosity motor oil stops this wear because:

1. It circulates freely in temperatures as low as 30° to 35°F below zero.
2. It retains its viscosity (thickness) at highest operating temperatures.

Improve the performance and extend the life of your car with Shamrock 5W-20 or 10W-30 motor oil. Ask for them at the Shamrock station near you.

for 20 days' active duty for training each year.

Reserve training programs will be conducted in facilities such as reserve training centers and armories, located throughout the country.

A member of the ready reserve will be paid a full day's pay in the grade in which he is serving for each week's two-hour training period and a full day's pay for each day of his summer camp duty. In this way he will be earning money while executing his obligation of citizenship.

For the under-18½ group who volunteer for eight years with six months' active duty training, pay to the individual during the six-months period will be at the rate of $50.00 per month.

By participating in reserve activities, a man can build up retirement credits with each drill and summer camp attended, and for each 30 days of duty for training.

If an individual desires, he can obtain retirement in the army reserve after 20 years. Retirement pay starts at age 60. (To be continued)

Better Ways to Adjust Production To Demand Needed, Says Expert

FORT WORTH—Farmers are looking for better ways of adjusting production to market demand, Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said Tuesday.

He spoke to the annual meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau here.

The national farm leader denounced failure of government crop control programs to protect producers of crops which are not under marketing quotas.

"Under present programs," Shuman said, "we restrict the acreage that may be planted to certain crops, but we let farmers use the acres that are taken out of controlled crops for the production of other things. This merely spreads the surplus problem. It does not solve it."

He pointed out that free use of diverted acres means increased supplies of such crops as oats, barley, grain sorghums, and soybeans, and in the long run it means increased production of livestock and livestock products.

"We need to do something better than to shift our resources from overproduction of one thing to overproduction of something else," Shuman said.

"Farm Bureau is studying the 'soil bank' plan of removing acreage from production. We think it offers a better approach. It faces up to the need of reducing the total amount of resources going into production of agricultural commodities."

"We consider it better to store fertility in the soil than to store thousands of tons of surplus commodities in government bins."

"Of course the soil bank is not an easy cure-all for our problems. Nor is it without dangers of its own."

"Before we arrive at a definite plan we must examine the objectives of the soil bank idea."

"There is danger of making the surplus situation worse by pouring new capital into agriculture. Any new program should encourage farmers to balance total farm production with demand."

"It also should reduce the present over-emphasis on price support levels, and help us to move away from the individual crop allotment approach which has proved ineffective."

"We know that, regardless of price support programs, we must produce for the market."

"Under the rigid 90 per cent price supports that have been in effect cotton producers have lost a large portion of their market to synthetics here at home and to foreign producers in the export field."

"I am not in any sense an expert on cotton, as you all know, but I understand that there is a large cotton crop in prospect — 14 million bales in spite of the fact that allotments were made on the basis of 10 million bales."

"If you had actually produced a 10 million bale crop, I understand that you might have had a tight supply of the grades and staples most in demand, and a surplus of the grades and staples for which the demand is low."

"I believe that this should be a matter of particular concern in Texas because you produce a considerable proportion of both the shorter and longer staple cottons, which I am told are less in demand than the medium lengths."

"It seems to me that if we continue to pile up surplus supplies of the grades and staples that are least desired by our customers there eventually will be pressure to adjust allotments with a view to getting production of the kind of cotton the market demands," Shuman said.

"We must face a great many problems in developing practical, sound farm programs. We face even more problems in the other fields in which we operate as an organization, and this means the whole range of public policy."

"We are fortunate in having a national organization, in 48 states and Puerto Rico, in which farmers work together to find solutions satisfactory to all of us."

Eastland used to have a lawyer and oil man who was of Scandinavian descent and his friends like to josh him about being frugal.

He was a graduate of University of Texas. On March 2, he attended the Oil Belt Ex-Students dinner in Breckenridge. The speaker told about the plans for the construction of Memorial Stadium and then continued, "I feel that there is one man under the sound of my voice who has prospered so greatly and loves his alma mater so much that he would like to give $25,000 to the stadium fund. If so, will he please stand?"

The lawyer shouted and leaped to his feet and then the whole audience arose and applauded.

His chair had been wired with electricity and at the proper moment the chairman had pushed the button. (Everyone had known what was going to happen except the lawyer.)

At another dinner of the Texas Ex-Students, this attorney (let's call him Jensen) was present. An eloquent speaker, also a lawyer, was making a nominating speech but had not called his candidate's name. He said, "The first time I ever met this great man, it was in connection with a commercial transaction whereby I acquired one copy, muchly worn, of Blackstone's Commentaries for $1. I still have the book; he still has the dollar."

And from all over the hall came shouts of "Jensen! Jensen!"

The man who made the speech was known for giving checks which came back marked "Insufficient Funds." Jensen muttered, "He should have said that he still has the book and I still have his check."

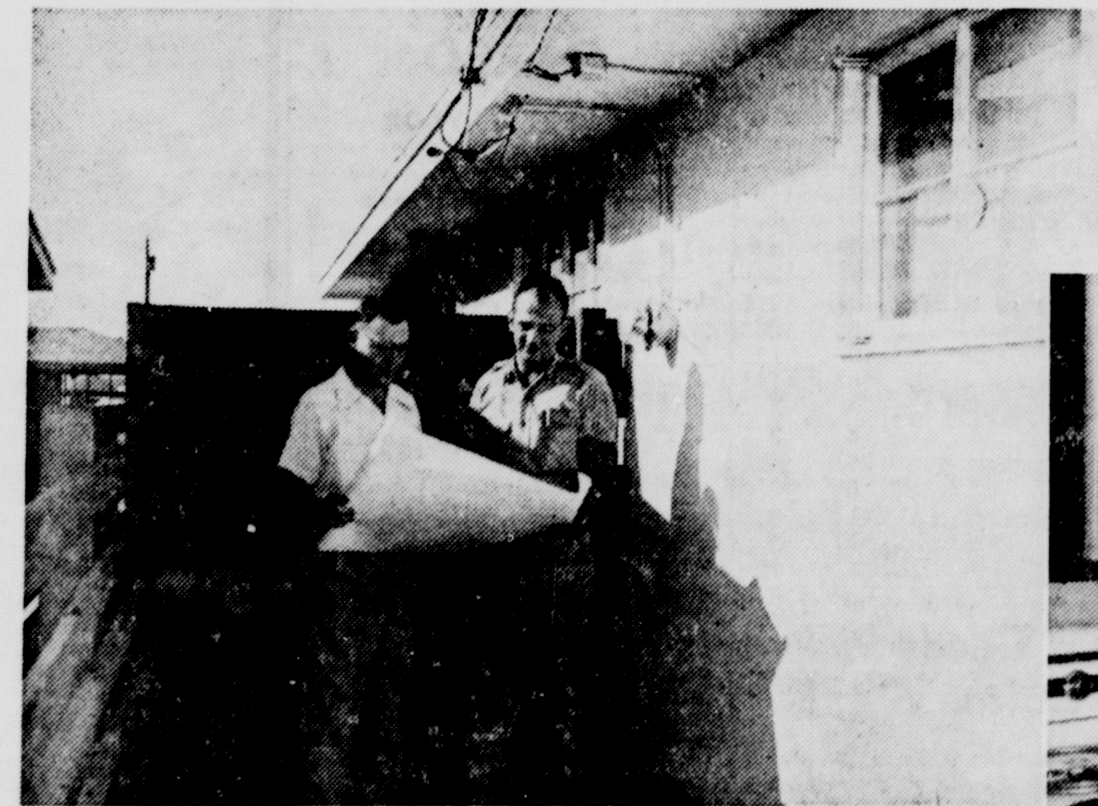

They don't have magazines any more like the old-time Argosy was when I was a youth. It was an all-fiction magazine and specialized in serials. It would run four at a time. One would be ending, two would be in the mid-stages and one would be starting. So of course you had to get four issues to read one story and, by that time, you were interested in the others, especially the exciting one just beginning, and so you had to keep on buying each issue. It is harder to break the cigaret habit than it was to quit buying the Argosy.

as the clock ran out to end the half.

Following the half, Canyon kicked off again, and Calloway ran the ball back to the Hereford 37. Bryant lost three yards, Tommy Weemes picked up four, Smith made two and Viegel carried to the Canyon 49 after faking a kick. Smith went to the 48, Merritt to the 47 and Bryant threw a pass.

Author Pruett intercepted the pass on the Canyon 21 and ran 26 yards downfield to the Canyon 47 before being tackled.

Adams carried five yards to the Hereford 48. Neblett attempted a pass and Adams carried to the 42 for a first down. A penalty set the ball back to the 47 and Adams carried two times to the 43. Neblett attempted a pass, then kicked to the end zone.

Taking the ball on their own 20, Hereford's Smith ran three yards and Bryant fumbled on the line of scrimmage and lost the ball.

Britain carried three times, going to the 19 on the first, making no gain on the second and one yard on the third. Neblett attempted a field goal from the 18, which was no good.

Taking the ball on the 20 again, Smith lost one for Hereford, and Merritt went to the 22. A penalty moved the ball back to the 17, then Bryant lost seven to the 10. Viegel kicked to the 40.

Adams ran to the 31, then the Eagles lost five yards on a penalty. Neblett attempted a pass then lost 14 on another pass attempt. He kicked to the end zone.

Taking the ball on the 20 for the third straight time, Hereford began a march that ended in their second score.

Merritt carried to the Canyon 45, then Weemes went to the 37. Bryant took to the 35 and Smith went to the 32, then to the 30, to end the third quarter.

Merritt took to the 29, Smith to the 21 and Weemes ran to the end zone for the touchdown with 10:59 left in the game. Kaul's conversion attempt was good to make the score 13-6 for Hereford.

After the kickoff, Adams ran three straight plays from the Canyon 28 to the 36 and Neblett kicked out of bounds on the Hereford 40.

Merritt ran on the first play from scrimmage to the Canyon nine. Smith carried to the five, to the three and then to the one.

Merritt went over from there for the touchdown and Kaul's conversion made the score 20-6 only a few seconds after the second Hereford score.

The Whitefaces kicked off to the Canyon 25 and Neblett connected with Adams for the second good pass of the game, making three yards. Adams ran to the 32, then to the 40.

Neblett tried another pass, then was caught behind the line for an 11-yard loss. Adams made one yard, then Neblett kicked out of bounds on the Hereford 41.

Bryant fumbled the first play and lost the ball to Canyon on the Hereford 42.

Adams ran to the 35, then Neblett passed to Britain on the 17. A penalty against Hereford put the ball on the two-yard line with four plays to go.

Neblett made one yard, then jumped over a line pile-up for the second Canyon score with 2:47 left in the game. His conversion attempt was good, to make the score 20-13 for Hereford.

Hereford began running the clock out, but the team was successful in chasing downfield again. With the ball on the Canyon 41, Bryant ran for another touchdown, but it was called back by a clipping penalty which set the ball down on the 40. There was time for one more play, and Bryant was stopped on the line of scrimmage to end the game.

Adams carried the ball 17 times during the game for 79 yards. Britain carried five times for eight yards. Ruthart carried two times for three yards and Neblett lost 23 yards in four carries, two of which were pass attempts.

Pruett Stops Weemes

Author Pruett grimaces as he puts the quietus on a run by Hereford's Tommy Weemes. Harley Adams, 25, has his back to the play, and Garland Ruthart is beyond him.

The Devils completed 10 of 10 passes in the first half for one touchdown and a 7-0 lead at the intermission.

Shifting its ground attack into gear after it sputtered in the opening two periods, Arizona State made it 14-0 early in the third stanza.

The Bufs roared back, however, and scored their lone touchdown with two minutes and 15 seconds remaining in the third quarter. With Dave Corley, junior substitute fullback, Mark Clapp and Charles Sanders carrying the load, the Bufs moved 77 yards in 15 plays for the score.

Clapp went over left tackle for the last two yards and Bubba Hillman converted. It ended 14-7 at the end of three periods.

Quarterback Dave Graybill sneaked over from the one and Leon Burton, the Devils' freshman speed merchant, scored from the two for additional Arizona State scores in the closing quarter.

West Texas fought back and had a first down on the Devil 11 when the game ended.

Walden, the big gun in West Texas' attack so far this year, had to leave the game after carrying the ball three times in the opening minutes.

He re-injured a charley horse in his right leg. He missed practice all last week and was taking whirlpool treatment as late as the morning of the game.

Corley was the big surprise in the Buff attack. After replacing Delmer Tuggle in the first quarter, the 160-pound Memphis junior rolled up 92 yards in 15 carries to lead both teams in rushing. Clapp wound up with 58 yards to rank second for the losers.

At the last business meeting of Pi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, the names of seven members were selected by ballot to be placed Nov. 26 in the cornerstone of the national headquarters building at Austin. Mrs. E. D. Harrell and Edna Graham were two of the seven chosen.

Attending from Canyon were Mrs. T. B. McCarter, Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. A. B. Holt, Mrs. B. Z. Woodward, Mrs. E. D. Harrell, Anna Belle Cox, Ada V. Clark, Edna Graham, Darthula Walker, Sara Thompson, Mrs. George Graham and Mrs. L. M. Cousins.

For the first time, researchers recently blended corn fiber with cotton and wool to weave material for clothing.

Sire Selection Help Offered

COLLEGE STATION—One of the toughest, yet most important, decisions the dairyman has to make comes when he selects a herd sire.

Upon his decision rests the future of his breeding program and R. E. Burleson, extension dairy husbandman, says there just isn't a fool-proof method for doing the job.

Burleson, however, has come up with an idea which he believes will take a lot of the guess work out of the selection job. He calls it herd sire analysis.

He has prepared two forms for making the analysis, one to be used by the dairyman for getting background information on the prospective herd sire and the other to be used by the person making the analysis.

The final analysis is based on pedigree merit and this includes complete type and production information on the sire and dam of the prospective herd sire and his paternal and maternal grand-sires and granddams.

Burleson says if too much of the needed information cannot be obtained from the breeder or breed registry organization, it might be wise to pass up the bull under consideration.

The completed background information form will be used by the extension dairyman in completing the herd selection score card which will give both type and production indexes. These indexes indicate the probable breeding worth of the young bull.

Burleson points out that since dam contributes approximately one-half of each heifer's inheritance and the opportunity the heifer has for maximum production is determined by the herd owner, no claim or inference is made that a bull will sire daughters which will equal or better his indexes.

The specialist does say the score card can be of help in analyzing pedigree information and predicting the probable breeding worth of young bulls. Local county agents can supply information on the new program and the needed forms.

Apple of the public's eye when shopping for fruit is the apple. According to the United States Department of Agriculture a recent poll indicates that apples take the top preference position with 33 per cent of those questioned. Oranges squeeze in second, with a 30 per cent rating.

State AAUW President Speaks to Canyon Chapter Monday

Mrs. Elizabeth Hindman Taylor of Commerce, state president of the American Association of University Women, will speak at a dinner to be held in the Blue Room of the college cafeteria at 7 p. m. Monday. The fee for the dinner will be $1.50, and all interested members are urged to attend.

Mrs. Linnie Harter will introduce the speaker. Mrs. Taylor, a member of the AAUW Chapter of Commerce, is an independent business woman engaged in the management of estates. She is noted for her unusual accomplishments and her ability as a speaker. She is a native of Greenville and was reared and educated there, at East Texas State Teachers College, Commerce, and the University of Texas, where she majored in geology and anthropology.

While at the University, she was a member of the Chi Omega Sorority. Mrs. Taylor has traveled extensively in Europe, Mexico, Canada, Alaska, the Bermudas and Hawaii.

Although she taught for seven years in the Tyler public schools and Wesley College in Greenville, Mrs. Taylor found she would rather work in the field of child training. For several years she worked as chairman of a group in Greenville that raised funds to supply food, clothing and a nursery school for underprivileged children and children of working mothers.

Since 1951, Mrs. Taylor has been a member of the AAUW Branch in Commerce, and has served four years as State Social Studies Chairman. She has attended several of the AAUW conventions and conferences, and has numerous speaking engagements during her term of office as state president.

Hunt Interest Proving Good

AUSTIN—Widespread interest in harvesting surplus deer on wildlife management areas is proving beneficial in several ways, reports E. A. Walker, director of wildlife restoration for the Game and Fish Commission.

He made the observation after almost 3,700 Texans participated in the drawing to determine selectees to hunt about 350 head of deer earmarked for removal because of overpopulation on three experimental demonstration areas.

Approximately 900 names were drawn, since experience has shown that only a certain percentage of the first wave of hunters got their deer in the one day's allotted time.

The names were sent in from practically everyone of the state's 254 counties.

"This is a heartening development," said the director, "since these public hunts which cost only the price of a $2.15 regular hunting license generally appeal to all types of sportsmen. We find they are a pretty cooperative lot and many of them make the trip out of sheer curiosity.

"In other words, they come to see how modern game management techniques are applied. Of course, we hope some of our own enthusiasm rubs off on them and that they will help us get over the story of what we are trying to do in wildlife restoration in Texas."

Walker said prospects are good for expanding the conducted and limited public hunts and cited the 115,000 acre Moore Plantation in the Sabine National Forest as a possible future location for controlled deer hunting. Recent surveys revealed deer numbers would justify the hunt.

The only thing preventing that Sabine shoot this fall was pending adjustment of some practices inconsistent with modern wildlife management methods in isolated East Texas areas.

Navy announces that it hopes to reduce expenses by some $160,000 per year by cutting down on its dentists' water use. Chairside cuspidors will be equipped with new valves, and water will run only when the mouth-washing facilities are in the use.

Antibiotics Aid Big Litter Size

COLLEGE STATION—An extra pig or two per litter resulted when the diet of the mother sow was supplemented with an antibiotic during her gestation. N. R. Ellis of the U. S. Department of Agriculture told delegates to the First International Conference on the Use of Antibiotics in Agriculture at its meeting in Washington.

The extra pigs were due to birth of more live pigs and better ability of the pigs to survive until weaned. It was emphasized that the inclusion of aureomycin (the antibiotic used) in the gestation ration neither increased the number of embryos nor the birth weight of the pigs.

Similar work has been conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and Fred Hale, station swine husbandman, says that at least three antibiotics have been tested including aureomycin. He has reported results which closely parallel those of the Beltsville Research Center.

Hale does offer this additional advice to farmers who may include an antibiotic as a supplement to the gestation ration of their sow herd. "Don't depend upon the antibiotic to replace a good sanitation program on the farm. As in the case of the ration, the antibiotic is only a supplement to management and sanitation practices which will aid in the control of swine diseases and parasites."

Among practices listed by Hale are rotation of hog pastures, thorough cleaning of farrowing houses before farrowing time, cleaning the sows before the pigs are born and carefully watching the sows and litters for any signs of diseases or parasites.

Frequent rotation of pastures and farrowing areas will aid in preventing "pig sick soil," a term used by swine producers to describe soil which is infected with disease or parasites.

The normal dosage of aureomycin is 10 grams per ton of feed. Supplementing the gestation ration at this level gave the same results as the inclusion of larger amounts—better survival of young pigs.

Crosby, assistant pastor, Polk Street Methodist Church, Amarillo.

There is no registration fee, and the courses are open to all who wish to attend. In charge of arrangements are Mrs. Arthur C. Haley Jr., Mrs. Lester L. Hill and Ruth Lowes.

Edna Graham Is Banquet Speaker

Miss Edna Graham was guest speaker at the South Plains Delta Kappa Gamma Society's annual banquet at Plainview Nov. 5. She was accompanied by Mrs. J. J. Boling, a member from Castro County. Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Cleavinger were in attendance. Mrs. Cleavinger is a member of the Plainview Chapter.

College cost to students soars to new peak.

Law Violators Get Large Fines

AUSTIN—Texas Justices of the Peace sounded a grim warning on game law violators as the major hunting seasons got underway.

The admonition came jointly through the latest arrest report from E. M. Sprott, director of law enforcement for the Game and Fish Commission. It revealed severe penalties for assorted violations, principally taking more than the limit and in shooting out of season.

An example of the treatment given to more flagrant cases was the $300 fine plus cost meted out to a Dallas man for having three mourning doves over the ten bird limit. The Justice of the Peace set the price at $100 per excess bird plus the costs totaling approximately another $100.

Fifteen cases in all of persons exceeding the bag limit was reported in the arrest compilation.

The major cases for hunting out of season involved deer raids. The largest levy in one incident involved three men from Harris County in southeast Texas.

Wardens caught this trio with a fawn deer in the trunk of their car. The animal was alive when the car was stopped although it had been shot twice when headlighted at night.

The Justice of the Peace fined each of the three $200 plus costs. He fined one for shooting a fawn deer, another for hunting deer in closed season and the other for possessing a fawn deer.

Common offenses involved hunting from automobiles, hunting with an unplugged gun, lacking hunting licenses and shooting before and after the legal daily period.

Wardens got into the act in enforcing better water safety by arresting two men for driving motor boats while intoxicated.

The bride was attired in a champagne lace dress with matching accessories.

MR. AND MRS. TERRY DON PERRY

Marriage Vows Are Solemnized In Recent Candlelight Service

Nuptial vows were solemnized in a candlelight service Oct. 29 for Katherine Furlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Furlow, and Terry Don Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Bratton of Plainview. The Joseph A. Hill Chapel was the scene of the wedding.

The Rev. Strauss Atkinson read the double-ring ceremony before an altar draped with white satin and decorated with two baskets of white gladiolas and chartreuse spider mums. H. R. Fulton, organist, played a prelude, "Claire de Lune," and the traditional wedding marches. He accompanied Mrs. Fulton who sang "Because," "If I Could Tell You" and "Indian Love Call." Bridesmaid and the only attendant was Nelba Jennings of Midland. She wore a mauve and chartreuse gown of lace over satin and carried a corsage of chartreuse spider mums.

Best man was Max Carnell of Hale Center. Ushers were Winston Luger and Chris Schaeffer.

Escorted by her father, the bride was attired in a white satin and lace gown styled with pointed sleeves and pointed collar. Her veil was nylon tulle and she carried a loveknot bouquet of white gardenias and stephanotis over a lace covered Bible. The theme of something old and new was carried out.

Mrs. Furlow, mother of the bride, wore a plum and crepe dress with mauve and blue accessories. Her corsage was of mauve carnations.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in an imported Italian, sage green cotton dress, beaver hat and black accessories. She wore a red carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception in the Baptist Student Center. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth over white linen. Mrs. Winnifred Luger of Tulsa, Okla., sister of the bridegroom, served cake and Mrs. James Cox of Amarillo presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Lee Bailey registered the guests.

At the wedding were 37 out-of-town guests. For a brief wedding trip, the bride chose a navy dressmakers suit with white and blue accessories. Her corsage was from the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Perry is a graduate of Canyon High School and Draughon's Business College in Amarillo. She had been employed by the Midland Magnolia Petroleum Company.

Mr. Perry graduated from Paducah High School and attended Texas Tech for one year.

The couple is living at the Hill-top Apartments in Odessa where he is employed by the Choya Drilling Company.

On Oct. 28, a rehearsal dinner was given in the home of Mrs. Mary Bailey, aunt of the bride. Prior to the wedding, a shower

Upchurch Explains Parity Problems

The surplus food problem is one that affects everyone in farming communities. W. H. Upchurch, PMA supervisor for Randall County, told the Lions Club last week. Upchurch said he does not believe that only 14 per cent of the nation's population should be classified as producers. He says other persons who live in town and supply the farmer directly with equipment and supplies should be classified by the census bureau as producers, since their means of livelihood stems directly from agriculture.

He said that the program for subsidizing the sugar industry, one of the least known programs, has cost more than any other, some $900 million between 1934 and 1951.

The potato-growing industry is second with a cost of some $450 million during the same period.

The per cent of the national budget devoted to agriculture runs between 1.6 and 1.9 per cent, he said. In comparison, the interest on the national debt is 8.2 per cent of the budget, he said.

The first stabilization attempt made by the federal government was in the early 1930's, when a program for wheat was tried, but failed, Upchurch said.

In 1938, the parity philosophy was evolved, and the same law, with amendments is now in effect. The first law put basic commodities at 90 per cent of parity, some non-basic at less than 90 per cent, and other non-basic commodities were allowed support prices at the discretion of the Secretary of Agriculture. Amendments in 1949 put the parity scale on a sliding basis.

Upchurch said the cash income in Randall County in 1954 from grain sorghums was $2,624,000, while the income from wheat was $2,746,000. Total farm income last year was estimated at between $7.5 to $8 million, he said.

He estimated that some 200 million pounds of grain sorghums will be harvested in the county this year, with support at $1.69 a hundred pounds, totaling some $3,380,000.

Upchurch explained parity as a base to provide payments to farmers for crops equal to the cost of living for farmers. As an example, he said wheat was supported at 94 cents in 1941, and it took 1000 bushels to purchase a Ford car. In 1954, with wheat at $2.25, it still took 1000 bushels to buy a Ford car.

Ed Thames was appointed third vice president to fill the unexpired term of Bill Knighton.

Joe Gibson reported on the district governor's cabinet meeting in Lubbock recently, and Milton Morris announced that the district mid-winter conference will be held in Canyon on Feb. 4.

Visitors to the club were Navy Chief Charles Buntin, of the recruiting service in Amarillo, Tommy Thornburg, White Deer, and James Anglin, Hamlin.

Applications Open For State Officers

The Texas Highway Patrol is accepting applications between now and Jan. 1 for appointment as State Patrolmen.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said that state-wide examinations would be given in January and that successful candidates would begin training at the Austin Headquarters of the DPS in April. Forty-seven men are now in recruit school and another class will begin in January. These were selected as a result of examinations given last summer.

The Public Safety Director invited all young men who are interested in a career of law enforcement to make application as early as possible. He pointed out that they must be between 21 and 35 years of age, inclusive; have a high school education; be at least 5 feet 8 inches in height; and weight not less than two or more than three and one-half pounds per inch of height.

Garrison also emphasized that applicants must have been residents of Texas for at least a year

Leon Schumpert (right) explains his use of three electric stock tank water warmers at his Portales, New Mexico, dairy farm. Mr. Schumpert is convinced that electric stock tank water warmers increase profits. Inset shows another type of water warmer which hangs on side of tank rather than floating in water.

Imagine yourself standing alone during a cold, chilly, wintry day. You want a drink. You can't use your hands. Your mouth and nose are submerged in a tank of 35 degree water. Not a very pleasant thought, is it? You'd take only as much water as you would need to survive.

And, that's exactly what your cows will do. Now, for efficient, profit making milk production, the average dairy cow requires upward to twenty gallons of water daily. Approximately one-fifth of this amount goes directly into the milk; the remainder goes into the digesting process and for body conditioning. Feed lot steers and calves require twelve gallons a day for top gains.

But, there's a way for your cows to get their water ration, even during the coldest winter day. Use an electric, thermostatically-controlled water warmer. The cost is negligible compared to the profits that are available during the winter when the prices are higher. Better milk production from the same number of cows is the result of cows drinking their full rations of electrically warmed water. This means more money for you. How about safety? Will an electric water warmer shock your cows? The answer is an unqualified "no" so long as the unit carries the Underwriter Laboratories seal and the installation instructions of the manufacturer are followed.

How much trouble is it to maintain? None at all. After installation, you merely set the thermostat to the desired temperature (not below 42 degrees) then forget it. On some units the manufacturer pre-sets the thermostat relieving you of even this simple chore.

Once you install your water warmer you're set for the winter. You don't even have to leave the warmth of your farm home. The electric stock tank water warmer acts as its own sentinel twenty-four hours a day—and night, and is on guard against sudden drops in temperature. You are assured that your cows will have the right temperature water at all times. You are assured the profits that otherwise would be lost.

Agriculture Secretary Benson conceded that farmers are not getting an "equitable return" for their efforts, and said that the Administration is "determined to do what is right and fair to alleviate the inequality of the situation."

One thousand education-minded Texans, meeting in Austin, selected "No federal aid, no federal control" as the theme they will take to the White House Conference on Education Nov. 28-Dec. 1.

Texas is one of five states that refuses federal funds for staging state and local education conferences.

Gov. Allan Shivers told the delegates to the conference that Texas did not seek federal aid to education. Further aid to the school system, he said, should come from the state, but without strings of control from the state level upon the local districts.

Rather than federal aid, one leader suggested "relief from the stupendous federal tax burden" to allow more states more latitude for school financing. A re-examining of the state's total tax structure in search of additional school revenue was proposed.

Other problems on which the Texas Conference on Education exchanged ideas were: 12-months-a-year or six-days-a-week use of buildings; attracting and holding good teachers; keeping curricula up-to-date.

A consensus of their findings will be compiled into a report to be taken to the White House Conference.

Court Re-Considers

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals is, for the second time, pondering the legality of the Duval County grand jury which returned 104 indictments against county officials.

This time it also is considering charges by Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd that it "misrepresented facts" on its Oct. 5 decision nullifying the grand jury's action.

In a vigorous argument for reversal, Shepperd contended the majority opinion reflected on the "propriety and motives" of himself and Judge A. S. Broadfoot. He referred specifically to statements concerning alleged collusion between himself and Broadfoot.

Judge Broadfoot dismissed one grand jury in Duval County and made arrangements for a new one, which the high court held illegal. Shepperd's office assisted with the South Texas investigations.

Master Plan Outlined

Visitors to Austin will have new sights to see in the Capitol area before long.

Guiding factors for the creation of a "state government center," with the Capitol building at the core, have been outlined by a professional planning firm.

A new state courts building and a state office building are to be constructed in the area soon. In locating them the planning specialists suggested:

1. That none should tower over the capitol dome.
2. That off-street parking be provided.
3. That easy pedestrian access be provided for all buildings.
4. That further commercial development in the capitol area be controlled.

Land Sales Reopened

Requests from over 3,000 veterans were included in a drawing which officially reopened the Texas land program last week.

The first 300 drawn were to receive application forms immediately. The remainder will receive notices of where they stand in line and will receive their application forms at a later date.

Land Office Commissioner J. Earl Rudder looked on as Charles L. Downey, department commander of the American Legion, drew the name of Olin R. Talley of Buffalo Gap as the first on the application list.

Rudder said careful measures are being taken to prevent favoritism. This was one of the factors revealed in the investigations which caused the program to be shut down last November.

Skelton Elected

In electing him chairman of the Texas Democratic Advisory Committee, Byron Skelton of Temple told the DAC they had, in effect, made him chairman of the Democratic Party in Texas.

A resolution at the DAC meeting in Waco, to leave the national committeeman post vacant until the May convention was rejected. In its place, the committee adopted a resolution setting forth "prime qualifications" for a national committeeman and committee woman.

No direct reference was made to the choice of Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, recently named committeeman. Ramsey's appointment had the approval of Speaker Sam Rayburn, who organized the DAC to fill the place of national committeeman after Wright Morrow was ousted from the post.

Johnson Dinner Planned

If plans materialize, a testimonial dinner for U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson will be given in Austin in December.

Meantime, there have been suggestions to name Johnson Texas' "favorite son" candidate for president. Johnson said he had no intention of being proposed as a candidate. He said he had every hope of forming a legislative program in Congress which can be carried to the people. "If we do our job in Congress right, the election will take care of itself."

Texas Schools Praised

A letter to Gov. Shivers from Maj. Gen. John G. Van Houten at Fort Carson, Colo., praised Texas' public school system.

Gen. Van Houten said outstanding trainees are selected from approximately 1,500 newly inducted soldiers each month in the basic training program.

"To date the greatest number of outstanding trainees selected have come from the state of Texas," the general said. He is commanding general of the Eighth Infantry Division.

Short Snorts

Miss Marie McCutcheon of Dallas has been named assistant secretary of state by the new secretary, Tom Reavley. Roger Tyler, former assistant secretary of state, is now chief counsel for the Brazos River Authority. Davis Grant of Bryan has been named first assistant attorney general, replacing Robert S. Trotti who resigned to join a Dallas law firm. Texas should reach an all-time high in employment by mid-November, says the Texas Employment Commission. Texas cash farm income dropped nine per cent in the first nine months of 1955.

MAYBE

"Dad, I've got my first part in a play," said the budding young actor. "I play the part of a man who has been married 20 years." "Well, son, that's a start," replied the father. "Keep trying and one of these days you'll get a speaking part."

Sell Quality Birds Beanblossom Says

COLLEGE STATION—Quality birds sold in top market condition are the turkeys which please the consumers, says F. Z. Beanblossom, poultry marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The number of turkeys to be marketed this fall is not much different from last fall. Retail prices are not likely to differ much either, says Beanblossom.

But, he adds, the competition with turkey marketing agencies in other states for sales in the consuming centers is a concern of Texas producers.

Turkeys which are well feathered, meaty and have a good distribution of fat under the skin are always in the greatest market demand. Rushing turkeys to market before they are properly finished depresses the whole marketing process, explains Beanblossom.

According to the specialist, the ideal market bird is fully feathered on the back, breast, tail and underneath the wings. Few undeveloped feathers in these areas mean the bird will pick well. Housewives won't be annoyed by having to pull pin feathers.

A good covering of fat under the skin makes the bird easier to process but most important, says Beanblossom, a well-finished bird has eye appeal for the consumer.

Producers can determine the correct marketing date by making careful observations of the entire flock and by handling a few individual birds from time to time.

The degree of fatness can be checked by looking at the skin covering the breast, particularly in front of the thigh area, says Beanblossom.

Lane is signed by Cardinals as general manager.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS
OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Behind the Iron Curtain

It would be most difficult to express in words the feeling one has as he gets on an airplane in Helsinki, Finland, for conveyance to a point behind the Iron Curtain. It can certainly be said that the entire operation is surrounded by the deepest mystery and this passenger felt somewhat like he was taking part in a foreign intrigue episode.

In any event you are in a state of suspended animation not knowing what will happen next.

The airport at Helsinki is an excellent installation and is served by several airlines connecting with the Western countries. Its only connection with Russia and the Eastern countries is by the airline owned by the USSR and named Aeroflot.

The Finnish Airlines are not allowed to go into Russia nor are any other airlines from the Western countries. You may fly any of the several airlines serving Helsinki from many points to Helsinki, but when you reach this destination you must change over to Aeroflot if you are authorized to go behind the Iron Curtain.

We were scheduled to depart Helsinki at 3:15 p. m. for Leningrad. We were all waiting for the arrival of the Russian planes hoping to get some pictures.

I had a movie camera and was all prepared to take pictures. Instead of one plane, there were three, all the same type. They all carried the Russian emblem and came in almost simultaneously.

I began shooting pictures and discovered my camera wouldn't operate. I took a quick glance inside and discovered that I had done something wrong and the entire roll of film was a twisted mass and the camera had jammed.

I began to hunt for a dark room where I could take the film out and save as much as possible. The only place I could find that was not brilliantly lighted was the men's room.

I can testify without fear of successful contradiction that trying to remove twisted film from a jammed camera in a Finnish men's room is no pleasant task.

I had the door locked and almost got in trouble with some of the other passengers. I finally got some of the other film out and tried to insert another roll but the camera had definitely jammed and I missed getting any pictures of the first Russian plane that I had seen. So I put the camera in the case and tried to forget it.

After approval of our papers we were admitted to a room from which we were later to depart for the airplane. This room was filled with many types of people who were travelling to or returning to the Soviet Union.

After another round of processing we were led to the plane by a Russian hostess. One member of the party started around the front of the plane and the hostess with the speed of a quarterhorse herded him back into the fold and left no doubt in his mind that he was to proceed where she led.

The plane was very similar to a DC-3 type of plane, that is two motored and about the same size. Some of these planes have tricycle landing gear and others have a tail wheel exactly like the DC-3.

The furnishings inside of the plane were typically Russian in design, color and texture. Much different from the furnishings in our planes.

There were no seat belts which disturbed us to some extent. As soon as we were aboard, the motors were started and we took off without any further ado.

There were no announcements or instructions of any kind, in fact we did not see anyone nor did we hear from anyone. We were quickly airborne and climbed to about 3,000 feet.

The trip in was uneventful except that we undertook to determine exactly when we passed behind the Iron Curtain. We watched for the border but were unable to discern it due to a haze. However, we were able to approximate our crossing by time. There was nothing unusual about the countryside except that there were no cities or towns in sight and we did not see any for a long time.

As we approached Leningrad we noted many railroad tracks and many trains. Where they were going I do not know, but most of them appeared to be freight trains.

We landed in Leningrad in due order, where we were met by some Russian officials, both men and women. The airport building is about 200 yards from the landing field. The two are connected by a wide flower bordered concrete strip.

We were escorted into the building and into a special room where our baggage was examined by customs officials and we were required to sign certain declarations as to what we were carrying. One of the officials spoke English very well and I asked him a number of questions.

One was, "Where and how do you buy any articles that you might desire?" His answer was, "You buy anything you want anywhere at any time."

As an afterthought he added the following question, "Not so in the United States?" to which I replied, "Oh, yes. There are so many things to buy and so many places to buy them in the United States that all you need is money." He grinned as though he thoroughly understood the problem.

This was our introduction to the mysteries behind the Iron Curtain and from that point many interesting events took place which I will try to outline in detail in subsequent newsletters.

Stock Poisoning Danger Period

COLLEGE STATION—The next few weeks may be considered as the critical period so far as prussic acid poisoning in livestock is concerned, says Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian.

Prussic acid is a chemical which forms in members of the grass family, especially Johnson and sudan grasses and the sorghum group, following wilting. The old belief, points out Patterson, that second growth sorghum grazing is particularly dangerous is not necessarily true.

For, he says, the only difference between second growth and first growth grazing is that there are apt to be young, rapidly growing lush sprouts at this time of the year when frost or drouth can cause wilting.

If the second growth is not wilted, it is no more dangerous than first growth material for grazing.

Patterson says that caution should be exercised in putting livestock on susceptible plants following frosts.

Farmers and stockmen should be familiar with the symptoms of prussic acid poisoning so that a veterinarian can be summoned as soon as the first indications of poisoning appears. Time is important for even with early warning some animals may be lost.

The first signs of prussic acid poisoning are rapid breathing and a staggering gait. Bloating doesn't necessarily precede or go along with prussic acid poisoning.

Since prussic acid is a volatile material, it is safe, says Patterson, to graze frosted or wilted fields within five to ten days following the cause of wilt.

After the material has resumed normal growth or has cured out following frost, it is again safe for grazing and fields should be utilized, says the veterinarian.

Men released from active duty are required to remain in the Naval Reserve for four years.

Benefits while on active duty include uniforms, travel, sports, recreation, leave, medical and dental care, dependents allowance, disability benefits, officer training programs, free $10,000 insurance, valuable vocational training, pay and career opportunities.
